(f) otherwise the State Bank considers him to be unfit to be a director or, as the case may be, Managing Director.

15. Disclosure of interest.—(1) Every director and employee of the Corporation shall disclose in writing to the Board ![and the Managing Director respectively,] any commercial, financial or other business interest which he or his family members may have, whether directly or indirectly, and which may have adverse implications for the Corporation's interest.

(2) In performing their obligations, the persons under sub-section (1) shall be bound to place the Corporation's interests before their own interests.

(3) Directors shall not participate in any discussion and shall restrain from voting on the issues in which their commercial, financial or other business interest, or those of their families, is involved.

16. Committees of directors.—(1) The Board may constitute one or more committees consisting of such number of directors as it may determine.

(2) The powers, functions, duties and other terms of appointment of a committee of directors shall be such as the Board may determine.

(3) The members of a committee of directors shall hold office for such period as the Board may determine.

(4) The minutes of every meeting of a committee of directors shall be presented before the Board at its next meeting following the meeting of the committee.

'Subs. and ins. by Act No. XXVII of 2024, ss.11 & 12.

(5) Subject to general and any special directions of the Board, a committee of directors shall deal with any matter entrusted to it by the Board.

17. Corporation's resources.—(1) The sources of the Corporation's resources shall, among others, consist of the following, namely:—

- (a) the paid-up share capital;
- (b) initial premiums from member institutions;
- (c) periodic premiums from member institutions;
- (d) return on the investments;

'[(e) proceeds received from resolution or winding-up of a member institution for claims arising out of payment to eligible depositors or financial support for resolution; or]

(f) other sources including loans, donations, grants and foreign assistance etc.

18. Financing the Corporation in shortfall of resources.—(1) If at any time, resources of the Corporation fall short of its liabilities under this Act, such shortfall may be covered in one of the following ways, namely:—

- (a) requiring member institutions to pay advance premium;
- (b) increasing the premium;

'[(ba) interim loan or finance by the State Bank, on such terms and conditions as the State Bank may specify, subject to an irrevocable written guarantee of the Federal Government in favor of the State Bank to secure the repayment of the facility;]

(c) drawing loans in accordance with the terms and conditions prescribed by the Board; and

(d) allocations from the Federal Government.

(2) The amount paid in advance under clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be adjusted against future premiums.

(3) The maximum amount of the increased premium contribution under clause (b) of sub-section (1) may not exceed such percentage of the deposit base as prescribed by the Board.

(4) Loans drawn by the Corporation may be secured by a guarantee issued by the Federal Government, State Bank or by Corporation's assets, including Corporation's future claims on member institutions for premium contributions.

'Subs. and ins. by Act No. XXVII of 2024, ss. 13 & 14.

19. Investments made and accounts maintained by the Corporation.—(1) The Corporation may invest in—

- (a) Government securities issued or securities guaranteed by the Government; or
- (b) any other investment avenue as approved by the Board:

Provided that the Corporation shall formulate an investment policy within ninety days of its commencement of business. The investment policy shall be designed keeping in view objectives of the Corporation and in line with underlying factors like risks and liquidity.

(2) The Corporation shall open and maintain account with SBP Banking Services Corporation or with any other financial institution with prior approval of the Board.

20. Determining size of deposits.—(1)The total amount of a member institution's liability to 'Tan eligible depositor] shall be determined by adding up all ![the eligible depositor's] deposits, including interest accrued or return due as at the date of notification under sub-section (1) of section 21. s hteiael |

(2) In the event of a joint deposit, each person's portion shall be taken into account in establishing the total amount of that person's deposits held by a member institution. If it is not otherwise provided for in the deposit contract, it shall be assumed that the depositors' portions are equal.

(3) In the event of a deposit contract in favour of a third party, the person in whose favour the deposit has been opened (the beneficiary) shall be entitled to receive a payment from the Corporation unless it is otherwise provided for in the contract. If there is more than one beneficiary, the joint depositor rule as provided in sub-section (2) shall apply.

(4) A deposit which is encumbered or serves as collateral shall be included in the adding up under sub-section (1) and the amount due on the deposit shall not be paid to the titleholder of the deposit until the said encumbrance or security has been lifted. Where an order issued by a court in respect of such deposit is effective, the Corporation shall pay the amount due on the deposit to the person who is designated in the order as the person authorized to receive the deposit amount.

'[21. Terms and procedures for reimbursement of protected deposits.—(1) The State Bank shall, by a notification to the Corporation, declare a member institution as a failed institution if:—

- (a) the State Bank has withdrawn the license of the member institution; or
- (b) an order has been made by the High Court to wind up the member institution; or
- (c) the State Bank has determined that the member institution is unable to pay its depositors.

(2) The Corporation shall pay eligible depositors of the failed institution up to the amount protected, in the cases where the State Bank has issued a notification under sub-section (1).

"Subs. & Omitted by Act No. XXVII of 2024, ss.15 & 16.

(3) The Corporation shall owe no interest or return on protected amounts.

(4) The Corporation shall pay the amount of protected deposit in cash or through transfer to any banking company or in any other way as determined by the Board.

(5) As soon as possible, after the issuance of notification under sub section (1), the Corporation shall collect necessary information and cause the same to be published in at least two daily newspapers having wide circulation and on the website of the Corporation, including information about the date after which eligible depositors shall be paid by the Corporation and the procedure for payments.

(6) Payments from the Corporation to the eligible depositors shall begin as early as possible from the date of the notification under sub-section (1). The Corporation shall ensure that payments to most of the eligible depositors are made or tendered within seven working days and that all payments are made or tendered within thirty working days at the latest, if there is no dispute as to the entitlement to, or ownership of, the deposit or where such deposit is not withheld or blocked in accordance with any law for the time being in force or under any order of Court.

(7) For foreign currency denominated deposits, the eligible depositor shall be paid the Rupee equivalent of the protected deposit amount at the exchange rate declared by the State Bank on the day of the notification under sub-section (1).

(8) In order to ensure smooth payment of protected deposit to eligible depositors, the Corporation may—

(a) request the State Bank to assist in utilizing the branch network and any other resources of the member institution, declared as failed under sub-section (1);

(b) request the liquidator appointed under section 51 of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), to facilitate in reimbursement of protected deposits;

(c) engage one or more member institutions for making payment to eligible depositors;

(d) issue necessary directives to the member institutions for making payments of protected deposits; and

(e) make payment directly to eligible depositors through bank draft or any other mode available.

(9) A member institution's liability towards its eligible depositors shall be reduced proportionally by the amounts paid by the Corporation to them under sub-section (2) and shall be replaced by an equivalent liability to the Corporation.

(10) A failed member institution shall be liable to the Corporation for an amount equal to any financial support provided under section 22A by the Corporation for its resolution and for any direct costs incurred by the Corporation for providing financial support or making payments to the eligible depositors.

(11) For the amount so paid by the Corporation to eligible depositors and to the extent of financial support provided for resolution, the Corporation shall assume and replace all rights of every such depositor including their priority rights under section 58 of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962).

(12) The Corporation shall regularly notify the liquidator or the assignee in bankruptcy of the failed institution about the amount paid by the Corporation to any eligible depositor, any direct costs incurred and any financial support provided for the resolution of a member institution.

(13) As and when requested by the Corporation, the liquidator of the failed institution or the bridge institution shall share information with the Corporation on all recoveries and proceeds received from sale of assets of that failed institution.]

'[22. Priority of claims.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Companies Act, 2017 (XIX of 2017), and any other law in respect of insolvency or liquidation or tax, the claim of the Corporation against the failed institution shall have priority over all unsecured claims under section 58 of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962) to the extent of:

- (a) protected deposit paid or to be paid;
- (b) financial support provided for resolution of the failed institution;
- (c) any direct costs incurred for such payments and support; and
- (d) any arrears of outstanding premium.

(2) For the avoidance of doubt, it is clarified that payment to eligible depositors, to the extent of protected deposit, of a failed institution as declared under sub-section (1) of section 21 shall be made only through the Corporation.]

'[22A. Provision of financial support for resolution.—In the event of resolution of a member institution under the provisions of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), the Corporation may provide financial support to facilitate the process of resolution, subject to the provisions laid down in sub-section (1) of section 22B, in accordance with the resolution scheme prepared by the State Bank and as per the procedures approved by the Board.

22B. Terms and conditions for provision of financial support for resolution.—(1) No financial support shall be provided by the Corporation for resolution of a member institution unless the State Bank, based on its assessment shared with the Corporation, has concluded that:

- (a) as a result of resolution, protected deposits shall be owed by a viable member institution;
- (b) the resolution of the member institution requires financial support to be provided by the Corporation;
- (c) as a result of resolution, holders of all classes of share capital and any subordinated debt have absorbed or will absorb the losses immediately before an order is made under section 42D of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962);

"Subs. and ins. by Act No. XXVII of 2024, ss.17 & 18.

(d) any financial support by the Corporation under sub-section (1) shall not exceed the estimated amount needed to reimburse eligible depositors under sub-section 2 of section 21 and any direct costs associated for such reimbursement:

Provided that where all assets and liabilities of a member institution are transferred under a scheme of amalgamation, the estimated recoveries of the Corporation in the event of the winding-up of the member institution shall be deducted from the amount provided by the Corporation for such financial support.

(2) Where the protected deposits have been transferred to a transferee institution or a bridge institution during resolution, the Corporation shall be deemed to have discharged its reimbursement obligations in relation to protected deposits in the member institution under resolution.

22C. Modes for providing financial support for resolution.—(1) The Corporation may provide financial support, based on the valuation under sub-section (2) of section 42E of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), for resolution of a member institution by:—

(a) paying any difference between the assets and liabilities to be transferred to a transferee institution under a scheme of amalgamation, or to a bridge institution;

(b) issuing guarantees or providing indemnities for losses related to the transferred assets and liabilities under a scheme of amalgamation;

(c) paying any compensation under sub-section (7) of section 42E of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), to the extent arising because of any action taken by the State Banks to facilitate the transfer of protected deposits under a scheme of amalgamation; or

(d) contributing to the recapitalization of the member institution under a scheme of reconstruction, to the extent that protected deposits would have absorbed losses in line with their priority under section 58 of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), if these deposits had not been part of exclusions under section 42G of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962).

(2) In case the liquidator under the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), has prepared a scheme to transfer the assets and liabilities of the member institution under liquidation to a transferee institution in terms of powers provided under sub-section (4) of section 51 of the Banking Companies Ordinance, 1962 (LVII of 1962), the Corporation may provide financing to the extent of difference between the assets and liabilities to be transferred to the transferee institution:

Provided that—

(a) the State Bank or its nominee has been appointed as official liquidator;

(b) the State Bank is of the view that scheme prepared by the liquidator will facilitate in protecting the interest of eligible depositors;

(c) protected deposits shall be owed by a member institution which State Bank considers as viable;

(d) reimbursement to eligible depositors has not yet been initiated; and

(e) financial support shall not exceed the estimated amount needed to reimburse the protected deposits under sub-section (2) of section 21 and any direct costs associated for such reimbursement net of expected recoveries.]

23. Delegation of powers and appointment of attorneys.—(1) The Board may, for the purpose of ensuring smooth and efficient functioning of the Corporation and facilitating transactions of its daily business, by resolution, delegate to the Managing Director or any other executive of the Corporation, subject to such conditions and limitations, if any, as may be specified therein, such of its powers and duties under this Act as it may deem necessary.
